Scott Fish Bowl Rankings, Analysis, and Team Breakdowns

Rankings are based on actual Scott Fish Bowl ADP from the FantasyLife Scott Fish Bowl tool. Note that in a major tournament like this with nearly 5,000 teams, there are miniscule degrees of separation at play. One player having a breakout season can drastically change a team's results.

These rankings are intended to be entertaining and add in a small way to a wonderful cause. Please consider donating to Fantasy Cares.

As the 2025 fantasy football season kicks off, the Covered Bridge Syndicate finds itself at a crossroads, weighed down by its struggles in the Oregon State Beavers division and across the wider competitive field. Despite a quarterback duo of Jalen Hurts and Patrick Mahomes promising fireworks, the team languishes at the bottom of both league and tournament ranks. The receiving corps is a mixed bag, with A.J. Brown leading the charge but supported by a cast that hasn't quite lived up to expectations. Courtland Sutton, Jerry Jeudy, and Chris Olave show flashes of brilliance, yet inconsistency looms large. Meanwhile, Cooper Kupp and Jauan Jennings round out a group that lacks a true game-changer. The running back situation is even more dire, with J.K. Dobbins as the team's frail foundation, reflecting the challenges ahead. While the decision to reach on talents like Mahomes and Olave adds some intrigue, it has left gaping holes elsewhere. Nevertheless, the stack of Hurts and Brown offers a glimmer of hope for some electrifying performances. But unless fortunes change dramatically, it's going to be an uphill battle for the Covered Bridge Syndicate this season.

TE: George Kittle (S) (TE3 | $28 | 4.02), Chigoziem Okonkwo (TE26 | $0 | 15.11)

As Bernie777 gears up for the 2025 fantasy football season, the team faces a challenging road ahead. Currently sitting at an unremarkable 11th in their division and languishing in the 19th percentile overall, the path to success seems steep. Despite boasting the strongest quarterback duo in the league with Lamar Jackson and Baker Mayfield, the latter perhaps selected a bit prematurely, the rest of the roster struggles to keep pace. The tight end position shines with George Kittle, whose impact could be pivotal in this TE Premium setup. However, wide receiver depth remains a glaring issue, with Jayden Higgins, ranked WR52, projected as a starter alongside more promising yet not game-breaking talents like Tetairoa McMillan and Xavier Worthy. While the team did secure Kaleb Johnson as a steal, other draft decisions, such as reaching for Dyami Brown, may undermine their competitiveness. With the season looming, Bernie777 must hope their standout quarterback and tight end performances can buoy the team through their rocky lineup and guide them to a surprising turnaround.

TE: Darren Waller (TE27 | $0 | 18.06)

As the SCLSU Mud Dogs brace for their 2025 fantasy football journey, their season outlook suggests a mix of cautious optimism and looming challenges. In the competitive gridiron landscape, they find themselves nestled toward the bottom of their division, ranked 10th, while their overall standing in the lower percentiles reflects a need for strategic ingenuity. The team's strength lies in their formidable quarterback lineup, led by Joe Burrow, Justin Fields, and Jordan Love, who are poised to carry the offensive burden. However, the receiving corps, despite having stars like Tyreek Hill and DK Metcalf, lacks depth beyond its top talent, with Rashid Shaheed expected to contribute despite his less-than-stellar WR54 ranking. The tight end position remains an area of concern, with Darren Waller being a glimmer of hope after being drafted far later than expected. The draft strategy produced mixed results; while acquisitions like Najee Harris and DK Metcalf were snagged at favorable spots, the team reached on others, most notably Chuba Hubbard and Jerome Ford, potentially handicapping their depth. As the season unfolds, the Mud Dogs will need to leverage their high-tier quarterbacks and make strategic mid-season adjustments to outmaneuver their division rivals and climb the ranks.

As the 2025 fantasy football season looms, Scottinthe503 finds itself teetering on the edge of mediocrity, overshadowed by their subpar finish last year and a discouraging current outlook. Sitting at a disheartening ninth in their division and languishing in the lower echelons of the tournament rankings, hopes are dim for a miraculous turnaround. Despite boasting a formidable tight end corps led by Trey McBride and the addition of Dallas Goedert at great value, the team is hamstrung by weak quarterback options, with Drake Maye struggling to make a decisive impact. Wide receiver depth provides a glimmer of hope, but with Jonnu Smith being an essential yet uncertain starter, the team walks a precarious line between potential and futility. Their draft strategy, marred by reaching for certain players like Trey McBride and Jonnu Smith, raises further questions about their foresight.

As the season unfolds, Scottinthe503 must rely on a delicate balance of luck and tactical finesse to climb out of its present doldrums, a task that seems daunting given their current trajectory.

As the 2025 fantasy football season kicks off, Zswenson92 is poised to navigate a challenging road ahead. Currently ranked 8th in the Oregon State Beavers division, they find themselves in the 40th percentile with some areas of improvement. Quarterback play could be a potential hurdle, as starters Cam Ward (QB23) and Tua Tagovailoa (QB24) are positioned lower in their rankings, making Ward's performance this season particularly crucial. However, Zswenson92 boasts one of the top tight end units led by standout Brock Bowers (TE1) and supported by Tyler Warren (TE10), Sam LaPorta (TE4), and Tucker Kraft (TE12), which could prove advantageous given the TE Premium setup. The wide receiver corps faces challenges with Jaxon Smith-Njigba (WR13) leading a group that includes Khalil Shakir (WR40) and Ricky Pearsall (WR42), suggesting potential variability in weekly outputs. Meanwhile, the running back lineup appears balanced, with De'Von Achane (RB6) offering stability alongside Breece Hall (RB13) and Isiah Pacheco (RB29). Notably, strategic drafting decisions have delivered value with players like Tagovailoa and Shakir, even as some choices, such as Tucker Kraft, were made ahead of consensus expectations. With an average squad age of just 24.1 years, Zswenson92 combines youthful energy with strategic depth, aiming to climb the ranks and perhaps surprise both in their division and beyond.

As the 2025 fantasy football season kicks off, El Burro Esparkalo strides into the competition with a promising blend of youthful energy and seasoned talent. Led by the exceptional arm of Josh Allen, ranked impressively at QB2, the team has a formidable air attack that is further bolstered by the likes of Malik Nabers, who brings explosive potential at WR4, and the ever-reliable Drake London at WR9. While the running back position poses some challenges, with Trey Benson shouldering a significant role despite being ranked RB44, his performance could be a pivotal factor in determining the team's ultimate success. The young squad boasts an average age of just under 25, suggesting room for growth and development throughout the season. Strategic draft decisions, such as securing DeVonta Smith at great value, reflect the team's savvy approach, positioning them for potential surprises. While they currently sit at rank 7 in their division, the combination of dynamic quarterbacks and a deep receiving corps offers a sturdy foundation for climbing the ranks and making a splash in this year's competition.

As the 2025 fantasy football season kicks off, stpatrickff is poised for an exciting run with a mix of seasoned talents and smart draft strategies. With a fifth-place division rank and a solid 62nd percentile placement overall, the team has a promising foundation to build upon. After finishing in the 69th percentile last year, they're looking to capitalize on their impressive backfield strength. Ashton Jeanty and Christian McCaffrey, both drafted at excellent values, lead a formidable group of running backs that stands as the strongest in their division. This depth gives them a crucial edge, especially when paired with Josh Jacobs and the steady presence of James Conner. While their quarterbacks might not top the charts, Justin Herbert provides a reliable starting option, and there's hope that Matthew Stafford and Sam Darnold can contribute valuable points throughout the season.

The wide receiver core may be thinner, but Zay Flowers is ready to step up and make key plays. A pivotal role will be played by Hunter Henry, whose performance could significantly influence the team's success. His connection with their quarterbacks will be one to watch closely. With a few calculated reaches and strong picks, stpatrickff is ready to navigate the challenges ahead. If the team can harness its strengths and find consistency across the roster, they have every chance of climbing the ranks and making waves this season.

As the 2025 fantasy football season kicks off, Da Beers are poised to build on their strong finish from last year, where they landed in the 71st percentile. Entering this season ranked in the 62nd percentile and sixth in their division, there's an air of optimism surrounding the team's potential to climb higher. The backbone of Da Beers lies in their powerful running back lineup, featuring stalwarts like Saquon Barkley and Kyren Williams, both of whom promise consistent performances. While the wide receiver corps might not be as deep, Travis Hunter shines as a key target. In a TE Premium format, the team boasts formidable tight ends, with Travis Kelce leading a solid group that includes Colston Loveland and Jake Ferguson, whose performance could prove pivotal. The strategic drafting of players like Russell Wilson and Loveland slightly later than their ADPs demonstrates Da Beers' shrewd approach, while the earlier selection of Kyren Williams showcases their confidence in his potential impact. As Da Beers embark on this promising season, all eyes will be on their key players to deliver and elevate their standings in both the division and beyond.

TE: Elijah Arroyo (TE33 | $0 | 20.01)

As the 2025 season kicks off, team rfm is poised for another promising run, coming off an impressive 2024 performance. With a strong foundation in their running game, led by standout Bijan Robinson and supported by Jonathan Taylor and Joe Mixon, they are well-positioned to maintain their competitive edge. Their wide receiver core, featuring Ladd McConkey and Tee Higgins, offers significant potential for big plays and consistency throughout the season. While the quarterback position poses some challenges, particularly with Geno Smith as a projected starter, his performance will be pivotal in determining the team's overall success. The strategic value picks, like Javonte Williams and Tee Higgins, should provide depth and flexibility as they navigate both their division and beyond. Despite some drafting missteps with quarterbacks, the team's balanced strength across key positions makes them a formidable contender, aiming to build on last year's achievements and reach new heights.

As the 2025 fantasy football season kicks off, ogcaptainplanet is poised for an exhilarating journey, combining strategic prowess with star-studded talent. Ranking third in their division and sitting comfortably in the top quarter of teams overall, they are a force to be reckoned with. The team's success will be driven by an exceptional quarterback lineup, led by the dynamic Jayden Daniels, who is sure to electrify the gridiron with his QB3 status. Complementing him are veterans Dak Prescott and Trevor Lawrence, whose synergy with standout wide receivers CeeDee Lamb and Brian Thomas Jr. provide an unstoppable aerial assault. Lamb and Thomas Jr., each among the top performers in their position, create a formidable tandem that stands as the backbone of the team's potent offense. With Garrett Wilson, Rashee Rice, and Stefon Diggs rounding out one of the strongest receiving corps in the division, opponents will find themselves hard-pressed to contain their explosive potential. Despite challenges in the running back position, the strategic draft picks of Jameson Williams and Emeka Egbuka, who were secured with great foresight, provide depth and resilience. The team's strategic stacking of Prescott with Lamb and Lawrence with Thomas Jr. only enhances their scoring potential. As they gear up for the season, all eyes will be fixed on ogcaptainplanet, a team that blends shrewd management with the power to thrill fans and dominate the field.

As TGW450 gears up for the 2025 fantasy football season, optimism is in the air following their dominant 2024 performance. This powerhouse squad, ranked impressively high within their division, is ready to build on last year's success, where they finished in an enviable percentile and boasted a stellar winning percentage. The team's wide receiver lineup is nothing short of spectacular, with Ja'Marr Chase leading the charge as the top-ranked wideout in the league. Accompanied by Amon-Ra St. Brown and Terry McLaurin, this dynamic group is poised to light up the scoreboard each week. The running back corps may not be the highest-ranking part of the team, but with key players like Omarion Hampton and D'Andre Swift providing steady contributions, TGW450 remains competitive. Smart draft decisions have bolstered the roster; the shrewd acquisition of talents like Ja'Marr Chase and Mark Andrews at great value positions the team for another successful run. With a strong foundation and strategic planning, TGW450 is set to make waves and is a serious contender for top honors this season.

Riding high from a successful 2024 finish that saw them rise to the 73rd percentile, kevinmoody now boasts a formidable roster with a blend of proven stars and astute draft picks that have exceeded expectations. The team's wide receiver corps is nothing short of sensational, led by powerhouses Justin Jefferson, Nico Collins, and Mike Evans, who promise to deliver electrifying performances each week. Additionally, the strategic selection of J.J. McCarthy and Jahmyr Gibbs after their average draft positions has fortified the lineup, allowing kevinmoody to maximize value and depth across the board. With a solid running back group headlined by Jahmyr Gibbs and Kenneth Walker III, the team is primed to navigate the season's challenges and capitalize on their stack bonus with Jefferson and McCarthy. Although tight end remains an area for potential growth, kevinmoody's overall strength makes them a formidable contender, ready to transform last year's triumph into this season's championship glory.
